

Day 5

Social Studies – Flags were very popular among the colonists and many people made them. Flags became very creative to express the emotions of the time. They were decorated with many different symbols including stars, stripes, and slogans. Create a flag for yourself. Then, write a paragraph explaining what you chose.

Language Arts – Find a picture in a newspaper, magazine, or online and glue it to the top of a piece of paper. Then, using your senses, write a paragraph that vividly describes the picture.

Science – Research the parts of a flower using various research materials including encyclopedias, internet, magazines, etc. Draw a picture of the flower labeling the following parts: stamen, sepal, ovule, petal, pistil.

Math – Look around the house for examples of arrays. On a piece of construction or computer paper, paste at least 6 examples of arrays. Make sure to label each array with its correct number model.
