

Got Eclipse Glasses?

If you don't plan on using your eclipse glasses again, you can donate them! Three Bridges School will be collecting unwanted eclipse glasses until Friday, April 19th for Astronomers Without Borders. This organization ships free glasses to teachers, students and astronomy enthusiasts in countries that are about to experience an eclipse.

A note from our partner, Astronomers Without Borders:

“Astronomers Without Borders has been sending solar glasses for annular and total solar eclipses since 2008. From Africa, Asia, North and South America, our members, partners and National Coordinators helped to bring glasses to people who may not otherwise have a safe way to view the eclipse directly. Building a community beyond time and place – glasses that once allowed Americans to witness the 2017 Great American Eclipse built bridges to individuals all over the world!”

Thank you for supporting a child's love of science!
