

Summer Programs

Overview

Summer Enrichment

Camp Invention

"Think Tank" G&T Camp

Summer Sports Academy 2015

Readington Schools
"Think Tank" G&T Mini-Camp
July 13-17, 2015
8:00-10:00
Grades: 3-7
Tuition: $85

This summer mini-camp is open to students entering grades 3-7 who are currently enrolled in the gifted education programs at their schools. The class will be located at Readington Middle School, 52 Readington Road, Whitehouse Station, NJ 08889. More information about the mini-camp will become available by the end of March.

Who We Are

Emily Bengels holds a Master's in Gifted Education from the University of Missouri, Master's in Language Education from Rutgers, and Bachelor's degree in Romance Languages and Education from Bryn Mawr. Emily is a published poet and recipient of many prestigious awards, including those from the National Endowment of Humanities and Honeywell Space Academy for Educators. In addition to teaching Readington Gifted and Talented students in grades 6-8, she teaches Spanish courses at Raritan Valley Community College and Summer Institute for the Gifted (SIG). Emily has been awarded 2015 Teacher of the Year at Readington Middle School.

Filomena Hengst holds a Master's in Elementary Education and a Bachelor's degree in Philosophy from Rutgers University. She has been an elementary school teacher in Readington Township for 11 years, has worked for Johns Hopkins Center for Talented Youth (CTY) during the summers of 2005-2007, and recently taught the undergraduate course "Educational Psychology" at Rider University as an adjunct. Filomena is also working on her doctorate at Teachers College, Columbia University in Curriculum and Teaching. She is currently a Gifted and Talented teacher for grades 4-5.

Download Registration Form

Questions? Comments?

Email summerenrichment@readington.k12.nj.us