I. PURPOSE AND OVERVIEW

The Readington School District middle school literacy program provides a balanced instructional approach which includes study of authentic and rich literature, and experience and practice in effective writing traits within a workshop approach. By the time our students are in sixth grade they are able to handle independently difficult texts. Students will focus on reading texts in the sixth grade level (70 percent) independently as well as sustained practice with texts in the seventh and eighth grade level as “stretch” texts (30 percent), which will require scaffolding by teachers. Students will read a wide variety of genres; narratives, dramas, poetry, and informational text. At the middle school level, students will read subgenres of adventure stories, biographies, memoirs, historical fiction, mysteries, folktales, legends, fables, tall tales, myths, fantasy, science fiction, realistic fiction, and graphic novels. Students will be exposed to dramas that include one-act and multi-act plays both as text and as film. Poetry in the form of narrative poems, lyrical poems, free verse, odes, ballads, and epics will be read. Students will also read expository as well as argument in the form of essays and opinion pieces and other documents and digital media sources on a range of topics.

In writer's workshop, students focus on specific text types: narrative, informative and explanatory text, and argument. In the study of vocabulary, students focus both on understanding words and their nuances and on acquiring new words through conversation, reading, and being taught them directly. Students will grow to understand the proper meanings of words, with the means (context, word analysis, and so on) to select words based on the situation.

Our curriculum is designed to be responsive to developmental stages. The differentiated workshop approach allows students to be engaged with reading and writing experiences appropriate to their point in development, and our teachers assess students at regular intervals to inform their instructional decisions. Instruction focuses on assisting students to build independence as readers, writers, speakers, listeners, and language users. Students will build a base of knowledge across a wide range of subject matter by engaging with words of quality and substance. They will respond to the varying demands of audience, task, purpose, and discipline.

Vocabulary instruction is woven into each of the units of study. Students in sixth grade participate in a spelling and vocabulary exploration program developed by Kathy Ganske, the author of Word Journeys. Students engage in word study activities that are challenging, interactive, and inquiry based. The vocabulary/word study program in sixth grade is a continuation of the K-5 elementary word study program.

II. COMPONENTS OF BALANCED LITERACY

The components of a successful balanced literacy program in the middle school setting include the following:

- Reading Workshop
- Writing Workshop
- Word Study/Vocabulary Instruction

Reading Workshop: (Approximately 40 minutes daily)
The reading workshop is one component of a balanced literacy program. The reading workshop is comprised of four parts; the mini-lesson (no longer than 15 minutes), independent reading time with conferring, a mid-workshop teaching point, and finally a teaching share, partnership, or book club discussion.

Writing Workshop: (Approximately 40 minutes daily)
Just like reading workshop, the writing workshop is comprised of 4 parts. It begins with a mini-lesson (no longer than 15 minutes) and is followed by independent writing within a specific genre. During this time, students write about self-selected topics as the teacher conferences or pulls together small groups of writers who need the same type of support. The teacher will stop conferencing time for a mid-workshop teaching point. At the end of the writing workshop, there is a teaching share led by the teacher, which often sets up partnership sharing.

Vocabulary/WordStudy:
Vocabulary instruction is part of a balanced literacy program where vocabulary is focused on and specifically taught. The language arts curriculum in sixth grade encourages the appreciation and curiosity for words and their meanings, as well as direct instruction to help students learn essential academic vocabulary terms used throughout the units of study. Vocabulary instruction is a component for each grade and every level of reader and writer. In middle school, this instruction can be limited to 15-20 minutes. Students continue to make use of a range of strategies to determine and clarify the meaning of unknown and multiple-meaning words. The repertoire includes considering the word’s use in a broader context that includes the content of the paragraph in which the word appears and the overarching structure of the text. Students will develop their abilities to interpret a variety of figurative language found in what they read, verify their inferences with word meanings, and make distinction among words based on connotation. Students will acquire new words through interactive language use, including informal talk, discussion, and responding to text as well as being taught words directly. It is important for word study and vocabulary development to transfer into students’ independent reading and writing. To do this, the teacher coaches students to draw on what they have learned during word study as they read or write on their own.

A readers/writers workshop schedule for an 80-85 minutes block of literacy while incorporating time for vocabulary/word study instruction is as follows:

IV. ASSESSMENT
Student learning will be assessed through:
- Running Records
- Student/teacher conferences
- Reading logs
- Reading pace and stamina
- Contributions to book clubs
- Fountas and Pinnell Reading Level Assessment conducted at least four times a year for students that are below benchmark at the beginning of 6th grade.
- Teacher’s College Scored District Benchmark Assessment for Student Writings in Narrative, Argument, and Information
- Writing samples and student writing portfolios
- Student presentations
- Reader’s and writer's notebooks
- Student Performance Checklists
- Student self-reflection
- Standards Based Writing Rubrics
- Writing Pathways Performance Assessments
- Learning Progressions

or plot.

NJSLS.RL.6.6
Explain how an author develops the point of view of the narrator or speaker in a text.

NJSLS.RL.6.7
Compare and contrast the experience of reading a story, drama, or poem to listening to or viewing an audio, video, or live version of the text, including contrasting what they "see" and "hear" when reading the text to what they perceive when they listen or watch.

NJSLS.RL.6.10
By the end of the year read and comprehend literature, including stories, dramas, and poems at grade level text-complexity or above, scaffolding as needed.

NJSLS.SL.6.1
Engage effectively in a range of collaborative discussions (one-on-one, in groups, and teacher-led) with diverse partners on grade 6 topics, texts, and issues, building on others' ideas and expressing their own clearly.

NJSLS.SL.6.1.A
Come to discussions prepared, having read or studied required material; explicitly draw on that preparation by referring to evidence on the topic, text, or issue to probe and reflect on ideas under discussion.

NJSLS.SL.6.1.B
Follow rules for collegial discussions, set specific goals and deadlines, and define individual roles as needed.

NJSLS.SL.6.1.C
Pose and respond to specific questions with elaboration and detail by making comments that contribute to the topic, text, or issue under discussion.

NJSLS.L.6.4
Determine or clarify the meaning of unknown and multiple-meaning words and phrases based on grade 6 reading and interactive read alouds.

- Teachers will explain types of characters and students will look for those characters in their books.
- Teachers will demonstrate how authors develop varying points of view within a text.
- Teachers will explain types of conflicts and students will determine the conflict their books.
- Teachers will model how to detect parts of the plot mountain in a variety of books/genres, and students will apply this knowledge to their independent reading.

Bend 3: Talking About Books: The Art of Literacy Conservation

- Practice will be done with summarizing and retelling books to partners.
- Teachers will teach an introduction to theme and students will begin to determine morals and messages in the novels they read.
- Close reading “Read Alouds” will model how readers can read between the lines to determine deeper meaning of text.
- Teachers will model making an image in your mind.
- Teachers will explain reading connections and model this through mini lessons and read alouds. Students will make connections in the books they read.
- Teachers will encourage talking about books with partners, and help students become successful in this skill through read alouds/conferences/partner discussions.

Bend 2: Thinking Deeper About Characters Across a Text or Series. Analyze textual evidence and elaborate upon thinking about complex texts.

- Teachers will explain theme through teaching a deeper belief in theories or ideas that are universal to culture. Students will come to understand universal themes or issues that are central to a book itself.
- Teachers will model viewing a series as a collection of episodes. Students will discover that characters develop and change over the course of a series.
- Teachers will place a strong emphasis on compare and contrast through both oral and written responses.
- Teachers will explain and demonstrate how to analyze patterns within a series. Students will look for patterns and also see differences as the series progresses.
- Teachers will work with looking for common or universal themes with series or books of the same genre.
- Teachers will place heavy emphasis on supporting thinking with text evidence, and model this for students. All students will be

Bend 3: Reading with Increased Expertise and Power
● Teachers will explain that readers can start books in a series with knowledge and experience they have gained from other books in the series.
● Teachers will help students develop book clubs to continue discussion of theme, characters, evidence, etc... Students will be held accountable for group discussion, and teachers will model how to have an appropriate discussion.
● Teachers will model analyzing author’s craft.
● The impact of word choice on meaning and tone.
● Teachers will demonstrate literary analysis and expect students to analyze their literature using the tools and strategies taught in class.

NJSLS.RL.6.5
Analyze how a particular sentence, chapter, scene, or stanza fits into the overall structure of a text and contributes to the development of the theme, setting, or plot.

NJSLS.RL.6.10
By the end of the year read and comprehend literature, including stories, dramas, and poems at grade level text-complexity or above, scaffolding as needed.

NJSLS.SL.6.1
Engage effectively in a range of collaborative discussions (one-on-one, in groups, and teacher-led) with diverse partners on grade 6 topics, texts, and issues, building on others' ideas and expressing their own clearly.

NJSLS.SL.6.1.A
Come to discussions prepared, having read or studied required material; explicitly draw on that preparation by referring to evidence on the topic, text, or issue to probe and reflect on ideas under discussion.

NJSLS.SL.6.1.B
Follow rules for collegial discussions, set specific goals and deadlines, and define individual roles as needed.

NJSLS.SL.6.1.C
Pose and respond to specific questions with elaboration and detail by making comments that contribute to the topic, text, or issue under discussion.

NJSLS.L.6.4
Determine or clarify the meaning of unknown and multiple-meaning words and phrases based on grade 6 reading and content, choosing flexibly from a range of strategies.

NJSLS.L.6.4.A
Use context (e.g., the overall meaning of a sentence or paragraph; a word's position or function in a sentence) as a clue to the meaning of a word or phrase.

NJSL.6.4.B
Use common, grade-appropriate Greek or Latin affixes and roots as clues to the meaning of a word (e.g., audience, auditory, audible).

NJSL.6.5.C
Distinguish among the connotations (associations) of words with similar denotations (definitions) (e.g., stingy, scrimping, economical, unwasteful, thrifty).

NJSL.6.6
Acquire and use accurately grade-appropriate general academic and domain-specific words and phrases; gather vocabulary knowledge when considering a word or phrase important to comprehension or expression.

be encouraged to choose moments they have never before put into writing.
- Students will show and not tell in their writing.
- Students will revise their draftings by looking through their writer’s notebook entries to ratchet up their own work with skills, strategies, mentor texts, and talks with partners. Students will use teacher mentor texts as inspiration to take new risks and apply new strategies to their own work.
- Students will develop strategies to conference about their writing with both teachers and peers. Students will pick out specific discussion points they would like to focus on.

Goals:
NJSLS.W.6.3
Write narratives to develop real or imagined experiences or events using effective technique, relevant descriptive details, and well-structured event sequences.

NJSLS.W.6.3.A
Engage and orient the reader by establishing a context and introducing a narrator and/or characters; organize an event sequence that unfolds naturally and logically.

NJSLS.W.6.3.B
Use narrative techniques, such as dialogue, pacing, and description, to develop experiences, events, and/or characters.

NJSLS.W.6.3.C
Use a variety of transition words, phrases, and clauses to convey sequence and signal shifts from one time frame or setting to another.

NJSLS.W.6.3.D
Use precise words and phrases, relevant descriptive details, and sensory language to convey experiences and events.

- Teachers will encourage the idea of writing “long and strong”.
- Teachers will demonstrate how to tell the story from the narrator’s point of view.
- Teachers will model how to use mentor texts to raise the level of your own writing. This will include showing students how to take risks in their writing. Teachers will read a variety of mentor texts that students can reference throughout the unit.
- Teachers will discuss how to reflect on writing and pause to set goals.
- Teachers will show how to use flash drafts to decide on a meaningful small moment for a narrative.
- Teachers will demonstrate how some stories can pan out into longer pieces and how some cannot.
- Teachers will conduct a series of mini lessons on characters, conflict/resolution, climax, themes, figurative language, sensory details, and mood/tone during both the writing and reading unit. All of this knowledge should be applied to the narrative writing.

Bend 2: Moving through the Writing Process and toward Our Goals
- Teachers will model rehearsing: Experimenting with Beginnings. This will include students “telling” their stories in different ways before they start writing.
- Teachers will model and encourage flash drafting: Get the whole story on the page.
- Teachers will encourage using Writer’s Notebooks for Mindful, Goal Driven Work
- Teachers will model how to re-angle and rewrite to convey what a story is really about.
- Teachers will model how to elaborating on important scenes and add new ones from the Past
- Teachers will show how to use
